Project Overview

1

Business Context

Hotel revenue depends on occupancy, pricing and booking behavior. This project analyzes ITC Hotels data from May–July 2022 across seven properties and four room categories.

2

Problem Statement

Where does revenue come from, where can room utilization improve, and how much booking value is exposed to cancellations?

3

Project Scope

A five-page interactive Power BI dashboard covering revenue, occupancy and efficiency, booking behavior, and cancellations.

Project Objectives

1. Analyze revenue performance
   Compare months, properties and room categories

2. Monitor hotel KPIs
   Revenue, occupancy, ADR, RevPAR, cancellation rate

3. Evaluate property performance
   Spot high and low revenue, occupancy and efficiency

4. Understand booking behavior
   Lead time, length of stay and volume by lead-time group

5. Assess cancellation patterns
   By property, room category and month

6. Estimate cancellation exposure
   Gross booking value vs recorded cancellation charges

7. Support business decisions
   Practical recommendations for occupancy, properties and cancellations

7 objectives • 5 dashboard pages

Tools and Methodology

1

Power Query

Transform raw hotel booking and occupancy data.

Conclusion

A five-page Power BI dashboard turned May–July 2022 hotel data into clear insights on revenue, occupancy, booking behavior and cancellations, and into recommendations that can be tested and measured.

Key Limitations

- Covers only May–July 2022 and the available fields
- Does not establish causes of revenue or cancellation changes
- ₹298.78M is an estimate, not verified financial loss

Future Improvements

- Add capacity, pricing and cost data for property comparison
- Analyze cancellation timing, channel and customer segment
- Test weekday offers against a baseline
